THE MIDDLEBURY CAMPUS, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1914.

Varsity Hammers Norwich Twirlers Hard and Buries the Cadets Under Big Score.

"BRES" AND WEAFER LEAD IN BAT-TING. "JACK" STRIKES OUT 11 AND ALLOWS ONLY THREE HITS.

On the 28th the Varsity trimmed Norwich to the tune of 16-2 at Northfield before a large Junior Week crowd. "Jack" Vail was on his mettle and pitched gilt edge ball, allowing but three hits, while Midd. landed on the Norwich pitchers, Thompson and O'Dowd, for seventeen singles. "Tommy" Bresnahan lead the field with five out of six, a triple, two doubles and two singles, while "Dom" was a close second with four out of six. Thompson was taken out in the seventh to save him for Saturday when Norwich saw chances of victory slipping away. One of the features of the game was the one-hanned catch by Smith, the Norwich short stop, of Haskins' liner and thereby making a pretty double play. Middlebury scored six runs in the ninth with two men out, so "Simmy" had to tell "Hask" to please get out, as the boys had to catch a train. Haskins responded nobly with a bunt, which he considered as the surest way for him to get out. The score by innings is as follows:

1ST INNING.

Middlebury-Triggs struck out. Lamere out on fly to pitcher. Bresnahau gets a single, Weafer a double, but "Jack" gets put out on first. No runs.

Norwich-Keefe out, Casey to "Bob." Mahard out on fly to "Tommy. Viano out, "Jack" to "Bob." No runs.

2ND INNING.

Middlebury-Jones out on fly to short stop. Robinson hits a single, as does Haskins. Robinson steals second and comes home on Haskins' single. Haskins steals second and third, while Loder and Triggs strike out. One run. Norwich-O'Dowd gets first on an error by Weafer, tries to steal second and gets put out by Weafer's throw.

Drop, Drop, Drop.

In the heat of the day When farmer's were busy A'making of hay, He'd muse of the poets, He'd sing of the bards He'd croon to the flowers That bloomed in our yards When a host of cute worms All fuzzy and warm Would drop on his head And take him by storm.

Oh the drop, drop, drop, Of the worms, worms, worms, The drop, drop, drop Of the worms, The drop, drop, drop, Of the worms, worms, worms, The drop, drop, drop Of the worms.

With his sweetheart he'd walk Where the cool river flows His heart all ablooming With joy, like a rose. He'd tell of his love That nothing could sever And ask her to place him In heaven forever, When a cute little worm, All fuzzy and warm Would drop down his neck And take him by storm.

Oh the drop, drop, etc.

Of a cool summer night In his auto he'd ride With his own little girlie Right there by his side He'd screw up his courage To ask for a kiss And stop his machine For a moment's sweet bliss, When a cute little worm All fuzzy and warm Would drop down his neck And take him by storm.

Oh the drop, drop, drop, etc.

When the day's work was over To his couch he'd retreat And prepare for a rest Refreshing and sweet. He'd dream of the angels Who watched by his bed When a bold little worm Would crawl up his leg Yes a cute little worm All fuzzy and warm Would crawl up his leg And take him by storm.

Y. W. C. A.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Miss Throop Thursday afternoon when she gave a talk at the Y. W. C. A. meeting on "The College Woman follows: in the Vocational World." Miss Throop touched only lightly on the profession of school teaching into which, until late vears, it has been expected that a college woman would enter. She said there were many places in business open to women and that these positions are being filled more and more by college graduates. There are many women private secretaries and department store workers who receive very good pay. A few women have ventured into the insurance and publishing house work. Miss Throop advised the girls not to go into the tea room work as the field is already overcrowded and there are many failures every year. The key note of success in any line is efficiency, which can be acquired by any one by doing promptly and willingly the every day things of life.
